With Mother's Day a few weeks away... Why not "Children's Day"?

• Petition at WhiteHouse.Gov
for the President to Proclaim the Day

Batavia, Ill., April 20, 2015 (The Religion Wire[™]) — Will

the President, governors and mayors join in proclaiming

Sunday, June 14, 2015, as "Children's Day"?

Since 2007, the governor of the state of Illinois has proclaimed "Children's Day" on the second Sunday in June. Also such cities as Aurora, Ill.; Batavia, Ill.; Fort Collins, Colo.; Vancouver, Wash.;

to name a few, have issued past proclamations.

John Ross, advocate for Children's Day and part of a growing movement spear-headed by the website, www.nationalchildrensday.us, expressed his hope for further expansion of the day.

"I am so pleased with the past responses from Illinois governors in issuing proclamations. The ongoing work of individuals, churches, and organizations for the day speaks volumes to its potential in 2015 for state and local proclamations and beyond.

"This year we are petitioning President Obama at the White House website to proclaim Children's Day. (Visit www.nationalchildrensday.us to learn the 2015 link, which is coming after April 21.) The petition needs to get 100,000 signatures by May 21, 2015; the White House will then review it and respond. Those 13 and older can participate in the petition drive.

This national petition drive is a difficult task and we are trying to spread the word. Still, we are hopeful for more proclamations this year and even one from the President.

Children's Day

Second Sunday in June

Add one — With Mother’s Day a few weeks away... Why not “Children’s Day”?

Children’s Day observations in the United States predate both Mother’s and Father’s Day. The day to celebrate children dates from the 1860s and earlier. The Methodist Episcopal Church at the Methodist Conference of 1868 recommended that the second Sunday in June be observed annually as Children’s Day. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in 1883 designated the “the second Sabbath in June as Children’s Day.”

Chase’s Calendar of Events cites Children’s Sunday and notes that The Commonwealth of Massachusetts issues an annual proclamation for the second Sunday in June.

Numerous churches and denominations currently observe the second Sunday in June, including the African Methodist Episcopal Church, African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Children’s Day website, www.nationalchildrensday.us, offers helps and also challenges parents, individuals, churches/houses of worship, schools/places of education, government/community and businesses to sign commitment cards directed at affirming America’s children. They pledge to “commit myself (ourselves), in the coming year, to love, cherish, nurture (physical, mental, emotional, & spiritual needs), and affirm...” They can also make a commitment beyond America to the world’s children.
